The Washington Avenue church of Christ is a warm and friendly congregation of God's people seeking to please Him in all that we do. We are eternally grateful for the perfect sacrifice of Jesus and the continual cleansing of His blood that we enjoy as we walk in the light. God desires all to be saved and come to the knowledge of the truth. God's word is truth and our responsibility is to teach that saving message to all people. May God help us as we seek to glorify Him.

TODAY'S SCRIPTURE READING
GEN 11:27-30

27 This is the genealogy of Terah: Terah begot Abram, Nahor, and Haran. Haran begot Lot. 28 And Haran died before his father Terah in his native land, in Ur of the Chaldeans. 29 Then Abram and Nahor took wives: the name of Abram's wife was Sarai,[e] and the name of Nahor's wife, Milcah, the daughter of Haran the father of Milcah and the father of Iscah. 30 But Sarai was barren; she had no child.

Thank you to our visitors for attending services with us today!
Please fill out a visitor's card located in the back of the pew in front of you and drop it in the collection basket as it passes so we may have record of your attendance.

THOUGHTS FOR THE WEEK

What We Believe #39

By Austin Wiggins

I recently read an article in which someone taught that all of humanity will receive a second chance to go to heaven after they die. An Episcopal preacher in a nearby town wrote it. The idea is that if one fails or refuses to serve God in this life, they will get another opportunity immediately following death to say "yes" to God. According to the author, it does not matter if one is a follower of Judaism, Hinduism, Islam, Buddhism (or any other religion), or even irreligious to the point of atheism--when everybody dies, they get a second chance to go to heaven if they failed to prepare while they were alive. What shall we say to this? A couple of points come to mind. First, throughout the article, the author refers to these views as his "speculative theology' and "possibly heretical idea" that "'Jesus will give us one more chance at the moment of our death to say 'yes' to him." He further states: "I even go so far as to speculate that if we do not say 'yes' to him in this life, we will get one more opportunity to say 'yes' to his love." There is one thing I agree with the author on. His theology is indeed speculative and heretical. There is absolutely no biblical basis for anyone who claims to be a Christian to teach this foolishness. Nor does the author even try to substantiate his doctrine from God's word. It is a false doctrine and ought to be repudiated by everyone who believes the Bible as God's word. Don't be deceived by this error. Second, the Bible teaches that it is "appointed unto men once to die and after this comes the judgment" (Heb. 9:27). Once a person dies, they no longer have the opportunity to obey the Lord. Their eternal destiny is sealed. When the rich farmer died, having made no preparation for eternity, God told him, "You foolish one, this very night is your soul required from you" (Luke 12:20). When another man died unprepared, his spirit immediately went to Hades where he was in torment (Luke 16:19-31). There was no second chance for any of these fellows. There will be no second opportunity for those of us living today. If anyone desires to spend eternity in heaven, they must make proper preparation this side of death. If one waits till after death to get serious about going to heaven, they have waited too late. Anyone who says there will be a second chance to go to heaven following death is spouting theological nonsense. Don't believe it.
